Terms and Conditions

This quotation is subject to the terms and conditions set in forth in Rockwell Collins, General Conditions of Sale, 074-8431-848 (Rev.01/07/15) previously furnished, furnished on request or attached.

The prices indicated in this quote are confidential and will only apply to purchases made by your company. Dissemination of this quote to any other entity is strictly forbidden and will void Rockwell Collins offer.

Prices are in U. S. Dollars and best commercial packaging applies.

Prices quoted are valid for deliveries taken no later than March 31st of the following calendar year. Exceptions noted for special build products.

Delivery dates and quantities quoted are subject to prior sale. Quoted Leadtimes are ARO(After Receipt of Acceptable Order).

Rockwell Collins reserves the right to revise prices and or lead-times on material previously quoted should it be determined, during procurement or production, that extenuating circumstances preclude the material from being offered at the original quoted price and or lead-time. This includes, but is not limited to, minimum quantity buys imposed on Rockwell Collins and/or additional charges that may be applied due to unforeseen tooling costs.

Rockwell Collins reserves the right to cancel any item we cannot supply due to obsolete or non-procurable parts.

Please note that there may be a cancellation charge on any resulting order, up to 100% of the order value, should the order be cancelled more than 10 days after order placement. The cancellation charges for custom buy or build materials will be determined at the time of cancellation, based on the status of RCI investment.

For Orders over $100,000 USD any purchase order cancellation or delivery reschedule requires prior written authorization by Seller. Products in continuous production may be subject to a minimum fifteen percent (15%) cancellation charge. There will be no charge for rescheduling a delivery, but pricing will be subject to the price in effect at the time of the new delivery date. Products not in continuous production are subject to cancellation or reschedule charges commensurate with the impact of the action on Seller. Charges for canceling or rescheduling the delivery of Products not in continuous production will be determined at the time authorization is granted.

Product to be returned for credit requires prior written authorization by Seller. Products authorized for return may be subject to a minimum twenty percent (20%) and a maximum one hundred percent (100%) return charge. The exact return charge will be determined at the time return authorization is granted.
